

ANTIOCH COLLEGE

SUSTAIN A COLLEGE THAT

Moumita Dam '19 worked on public health issues while on Co-op at the Northshore University Healthcare System in Evanston, IL. Her work resulted in a co-author credit for “Correlation of Sugar-Sweetened Beverage Consumption and School Free and Reduced Lunch Eligibility as a Measure of Socioeconomic Status,” a peer-reviewed paper published in the Journal of Community Health in November 2018.

Kensy Zelaya Sabillon '21 put her interest in immigration law into action while on Co-op at RAICES (Refugee and Immigrant Center for Education and Legal Services) in Houston, TX, where she worked to empower the immigrant community through legal aid, education, advocacy, and social services.

CO-OP WORK EXPERIENCE HAS LASTING IMPACT

Antioch had a truly profound and lasting impact on my life. And I believe that the Antioch College Works program gives students today exactly the kind of experience that will prepare them to be a force for productive and positive work in the world.

Musa and I are enthusiastic about Antioch and I hope you will join us in supporting Antioch College Works.

—Tom Mayer '73
